

July 11-August 8 LAT 498/598, Section 001 □ Readings in Latin Poetry
Reference Number 23651, 3 credit hours □ Location: On campus □ □ Scope:
An intensive workshop on five Saturdays, three on campus, two online.
Workshop covers poetry of the early Empire, particularly the works of Ovid and Propertius. Participants are encouraged to create teaching modules for Second Life or other online media. Instruction in Second Life will be provided. Projects covering a special topic will be developed by the participants and presented to the class. The course grade will consist of projects, class presentations, class participation, and a final translation exam. For more information, contact Richard Jackson King or Chris Shea at (765) 285-1361. Instructors: Dr. Richard Jackson King, Assistant Professor of Classics, and Dr. Chris Shea, Professor of Classics and Chair, Department of Modern Languages and Classics