Association of Lifelong Learners, 1993-2006

6 boxes; 1.5 cu. ft.

History

The Association of Lifelong Learners was formed in 1993 primarily for retirees. Its members are a mixture of those affiliated with Ball State University and local residents. Ball State educators and local retired professionals present many programs and in the past the group has offered bus trips, dinner and theater outings, and study groups. The group is associated with Ball State University Continuing Education Program and the Institute for Learning in Retirement Network, which sponsors the Elderhostel programs.

Scope and Content

The papers consist of presidents' papers, membership letters, lists and surveys, programming information and subject files.

PSC 288 comprises photos of the Spring 1998 Elderhostel Institute conference.
