

Cheating Role-Playing Scenario

Background: The two students are sitting at desks beside each other taking a big test. Student one stayed up late and did not study for the test. He is trying to persuade student two to let him cheat.

Student One: (Whispering) Hey man let me copy your first three answers. I stayed up late and forgot to study.

Student Two: Be quiet I don't want to get in trouble.

Student One: Please, if you let me do this I will be your best friend forever. I will play with you everyday at recess.

Student Two: No way. My mom will kill me if I get caught cheating.

Student One. You don't understand. If I get an "F" on this test I am going to fail Science. If I fail, I will get kicked off the basketball team.

Student Two: I don't care if you get kicked off the team. It is not fair. I studied for two hours last night.

Student One: If you let me copy this one time I will never ask again. I will even give you my lunch money.

Student Two: I told you no. Leave me alone or I am going to tell.

Student One: OK...OK.