The Dashiell House

Situated in the La Villita historic district, this two-story limestone house was built for Major Jeremiah Dashiell circa 1850. The main dining room, located on the top floor of the house, features a 20-foot ceiling, shuttered windows, two fireplaces and original wood trim.

To the left of the house, tropical foliage, stone walls and wrought and wrought iron fencing border the garden plaza. The plaza is perfect for pre-dinner cocktails and al fresco dining.

The back yard of the Dashiell House affords a fabulous view of the riverwalk activities. From the right, barges cruise into view under the Hilton bridge, and to the left, one can see the stage of the outdoor Arneson River Theater and the much photographed Rosita's Bridge. There is no other setting like the back yard of the Dashiell House for private outdoor events on the river.
