

Multikulturelles Deutschland Indiana Chapter AATG, Immersion 2008

“Die meisten Deutschen sind zweisprachig. Sie haben in der Schule Englisch und / oder Französisch gelernt. Aber auch Spanisch, Italienisch und Türkisch gehören als Sprache im Alltag dazu. Die Gastarbeiter, die Deutschland in den Boomjahren der Fünfziger und Sechziger hauptsächlich aus den südlichen Ländern Europas anwarb, blieben im Land. Heute lebt teilweise schon die dritte Generation der Italiener, Spanier, Portugiesen, Türken hier. Dazu kamen viele neue Bürger aus den Ländern Osteuropas. Sie alle brachten und bringen ihre Kultur mit. So kann man heute positiv von einer multikulturellen Gesellschaft sprechen.”
