

Richard T. Whitman for inclusion at the EGNR Faculty Page

Education:

Edd Ball State University Science Education of Hazardous Materials

MA Physical Science West Chester University of Pennsylvania

BS Biology Education Villanova University

College and University Teaching Certificate, Ball State University

Certifications:

K-12 Science Teaching Certification, Pennsylvania Department of Education

Army War College, Naval War College & National Defense University

Licensed and Registered Health Physicist

Current Research:

I develop teaching methods to expand employment options for students interested in environmental or hazardous material work or policy development. I continue research on the location of radioactive fallout from prior nuclear detonations and releases.

Professional Association:

Vice-Chair of the American National Standards Institute N-43 Radiation Standards overseeing the status of 12 current standards on radiation safety and control.

Prior Service:

National Radiation Safety Officer, US Department of Homeland Security (Retired)

Colonel, US Army (Retired)