

Expenses Guide for FSA Benefits

This guide provides important information about your flexible spending account (FSA). It also includes detailed lists of expenses generally reimbursable under your FSA. The various lists contain general expenses allowed by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). Eligible expenses are defined by IRS rules and your employer's plan. To learn more about eligible FSA expenses under your specific plan, please refer to your Summary Plan Description (SPD).

A final determination cannot be made on any claim until you complete and submit a reimbursement form along with the required supporting documentation. Reimbursement forms are available by logging in to your personal account at anthem.com.*

Be sure to keep receipts and other supporting documentation related to your FSA expenses as well as your reimbursement requests. Per IRS rules, you may be required to submit itemized receipts to verify your expenses.

Health FSA Expenses

The key to making the most of your health FSA is knowing about the wide variety of eligible expenses. You can use your account funds for numerous health care-related products and services – for yourself, your spouse, and your qualifying child or relative. IRS rules state that expenses reimbursed under your health FSA may not be reimbursed under any other plan or program, and only your qualified out-of-pocket expenses are eligible. These expenses must be incurred within the coverage period specified by your plan. Plus, expenses reimbursed under a health FSA may not be used to claim any federal income tax deduction or credit.

Orthodontia Expenses

Orthodontic services are usually provided over an extended period of time. The expenses for the entire period of treatment are sometimes required to be paid upfront – a single total payment at the beginning of the treatment period. Some orthodontists may also accept a substantial initial payment, followed by installment payments during the course of treatment.

Typically, health FSA expenses must be incurred during the coverage period specified by the plan. However, for orthodontia it may be difficult to divide and match up specific services and dates that are related to the total fee since the treatment usually spans beyond the plan year. For these reasons, orthodontia expenses may be reimbursed using one of the following two methods.

Reimbursement Method 1 – Paid in Full

If you pay for the entire orthodontia treatment plan with a single payment, this method allows upfront reimbursement for all qualified expenses paid in the current plan year. Documentation must include the treatment start date, anticipated treatment end date, proof of payment, and a completed Request for Reimbursement Form. Find this form through your personal account at anthem.com.*

If payment for orthodontia is made in full, the full contract amount, not to exceed your annual election, will be reimbursed. To receive reimbursement for the full contract amount:

- Payment must be made within the applicable plan year; and
- An itemized statement of work or receipt must be provided with your Request for Reimbursement Form.

Example of Paid in Full Orthodontia with a 24-month Contract

- Total cost: $2,500 (including $500 banding fee)
- Plan year: January – December
- Treatment start date: August 1, 2014
- Treatment completion date: July 31, 2016

August 2014: Payment for initial treatment (including banding expenses); full contract amount paid at initial visit	$2,500
August 2014: Participant submits reimbursement request to include treatment start date, anticipated treatment end date, proof of payment, and a completed Request for Reimbursement Form
Total Orthodontia Treatment Expenses Reimbursable in August 2014 (assuming sufficient account balance is available)	$2,500

Method 2 – Monthly Approach

This method is similar to the way you submit other health FSA claims. You may first request reimbursement for the initial payment that is typically for banding fees. The treatment plan or itemized statement is required with the initial contract/banding reimbursement request. The documentation should include the amount of the initial down payment (usually associated with banding fees), the treatment start date, and anticipated treatment end date.

Thereafter, you may file a monthly reimbursement request for the monthly payment amount. For ongoing monthly reimbursement requests, submit an itemized statement or payment coupon from the provider and a signed Request for Reimbursement Form. Go to anthem.com* and log in to your personal account to find this form.

Example of Monthly Expenses for Orthodontia with a 24-month Contract

- Total cost: $2,500 (including $500 banding fee)
- Plan year: January – December
- Treatment start date: August 1, 2014
- Treatment completion date: July 31, 2016

August 2014: Payment for initial treatment (including banding expenses)	$700
August 2014: August regular monthly expense	$75
September through December 2014: Regular monthly expense, submission of $75 reimbursement request each month (4 months x $75); one separate Request for Reimbursement Form	$300
2015: Regular monthly expenses; submission of $75 reimbursement request each month (12 months x $75); 12 separate reimbursement requests	$900
2016: Regular monthly expenses; submission of $75 reimbursement request each month (7 months x $75); 7 separate reimbursement requests	$525
Total Orthodontia Treatment Expense	$2,500

Dependent Care FSA Expenses

Dependent care expenses must be for a qualifying individual who is:

- Your dependent child under the age of 13 and lives with you for more than half the year
- Your spouse or other qualifying dependent who is physically or mentally incapable of self-care and lives with you for more than half the year

A special note for divorced individuals: If you are divorced and you are the custodial parent, your child is a qualifying individual even if you do not claim the child as your tax dependent. A divorced, non-custodial parent cannot be reimbursed under a dependent care FSA, even if the divorced, non-custodial parent claims the child as a tax dependent.

To be eligible for reimbursement under your dependent care FSA, an expense must be incurred to enable you (and your spouse, if married) to work or look for work. For this purpose, “work” may include actively looking for work, but it does not include unpaid volunteer work or volunteer work for a nominal salary. Your spouse is considered to have worked if he or she is a full-time student for at least five calendar months during the tax year, or if your spouse is mentally or physically incapable of self-care.

IRS regulations state that expenses reimbursed under your dependent care FSA may not be reimbursed under any other plan or program, and only your out-of-pocket expenses are eligible. These expenses must be incurred within the current plan year. Plus, expenses reimbursed under a dependent care FSA may not be used to claim any federal income tax deduction or credit.

Although you may not claim any other tax benefit for the tax-free amounts received by you under the dependent care FSA, the balance of your eligible employment-related expenses may be eligible for the dependent care credit. Please consult your tax advisor to determine whether the tax credit may be more favorable to you than participating in the dependent care FSA.

Dependent Care Reimbursement Documentation

- A signed and dated Request for Reimbursement Form must accompany each reimbursement request. Find this form through your personal account at anthem.com.*
- If both the participant and the provider certifications on the reimbursement form are completed and signed, additional documentation is not required.
- For reimbursement forms without the provider’s signature, an itemized statement from the dependent care provider is required.
- Itemized statements should include: the date(s) of service, the name and date of birth of the dependent, itemization of charges, and the provider’s name, address, and Tax ID or Social Security number.
