Academic Advising

- If you need assistance with adding or dropping classes for fall semester, email your academic advisor and include your cell phone number.
- To find the name of your academic advisor, log into AVISO or Self Service (SSB) through your myBSU page (<http://my.bsu.edu>). In Self Service, click on the “Student” tab and then on “Student Records”. Under “Current Degree and Advisor” your academic advisor is listed along with your degree/major information.
- All academic advisors will meet with students remotely during fall semester (WebEx, phone, or email). Although you will not be meeting one-on-one in the office, you will have full access to your advisor through WebEx, phone, email, and online (AVISO: my.bsu.edu). Additionally, the Freshman Advising Center will continue to have resources available on the website (www.bsu.edu/advising) and announcements/updates on Twitter (@bsu_advising).
- Important Dates
 - Sunday, August 30 - Last day to add/drop classes
 - October 28 - Last day to withdraw from individual full-term courses

Check your Ball State email regularly for academic advising updates.

New Student Orientation

Student orientations vary from one day to one week, depending on the college or university. New student or transfer student orientations are a great way to become familiar with your campus and the resources that are available on it. If you don't already know, be sure to ask if there is a 21st Century Scholars office on your campus.

To find out more about new student or transfer student orientations on your campus, contact the admissions or orientation office.

After you have completed this activity, answer the few questions below to track it. This activity can be tracked more than once as part of the College Scholar Success Program.

Professional Resume

One of the most important documents you'll craft during your time in college is a professional resume. Start early by keeping track of your skills and accomplishments you've gotten from various experiences, paid or unpaid, throughout college. Your resume should be updated at least once a year and reviewed by faculty, professionals in your field of interest and your campus career center.

The career center on your campus can help you begin the resume writing process. Learn more about what you'll want to include in your resume here. You can also utilize an online platform, such as LinkedIn, to help boost your resume's presence online.

After you have completed this activity, answer the few questions below to track it. This activity can be tracked once as part of the College Scholar Success Program.
