Iceland is an island country in the North Atlantic. The country has a variety of landscapes such as mountains, glaciers and lava fields. For example, Vatnajökull, also called Vatna Glacier, is the largest sparkling glacier in Europe. The capital and biggest city is Reykjavik. Other important centers are Akureyri, Hafnarfjördur and Selfoss. Iceland is closer to Europe than the Americas. The mild climate of the island is provided by the Gulf Stream.

Wednesday, February 19th
12:00 pm – 1:00 pm
Yuhas Room
Student Center 102
Presenter: Daniel Grinspan