7. Questions Directed to the Interim President
Interim President King summarized BSU funding allocations recently approved by the governor:
- funding for phase 2 of the Cooper Science building replacement (87.5 million)
- an increase in operation allocations: 2.2% for the first year and 1.7% the following year

He forecasted future events, such as the ground breaking for the health professions building, the arrival of President Mearns on May 15th, and a fundraising initiative to develop a Robert J. Morris Distinguished Lecture series.

Interim President King also reflected on accomplishments that attest to the Senate’s key role on campus: the creation of the College of Health, the realignment of programs in the College of Applied Sciences and Technology, and policy changes that align pay increases with merit and that more clearly define satisfactory performance. He praised the work of BSU’s contract faculty and voiced support for Contract Titles and Promotions, up for Senate review.

Interim President King clarified university practice for conducting internal vs. external searches for faculty and dean positions and touched on specific circumstances that may warrant internal searches.

The Senate recognized Interim President King for his service.

    C. Library Budget Resolution (Enclosure #5)
        The Senate reviewed the resolution, which originated out of Faculty Council but was postponed for a vote during its 4/20/17 meeting due to lack of time. K. Koch pointed out that the resolution was forwarded to Senate because it addresses time-sensitive budget decisions that require action before the school year ends.

        A motion was made and seconded to approve the resolution, with the editorial change that “physical holdings” be revised to say “scholarly holdings” and that references to the faculty’s request be replaced with the University Senate’s request.

        Motion carried

    D. Contract Faculty Titles and Promotions (Enclosure #6)
        The chair reviewed the legislation. A motion was made and seconded (B. Frankel/K. Berryhill) to review an amendment proposed by B. Frankel (Attachment #1) that would remove the time increments used to assess promotion in the current proposal.

        Motion carried

        Discussion points related to the amendment:
        - The degree of parallelism between promotion timelines/assessment/merit pay for tenure-track vs contract faculty in the current proposal
        - The degree of autonomy within academic units to propose promotion timelines and salary/merit standards for contract faculty
        - The specific charge of the ad hoc committee that developed the legislation
        - Potentially removing the proposal’s strength by removing timeline guideposts
A motion was made and seconded to approve the amended legislation.

Motion did not carry.

The committee shifted its discussion on the original proposal.

Discussion points related to the original proposal:
- Clarification of the timeline for departments to write their policies for promotion
- The possibility for ushering in new contract faculty into promotions based on excellence at previous institutions
- Grandfathering current contract faculty into promotions
- The goal is for the policy to be implemented starting in the Fall of 2017 so people can apply for the first promotion for Fall 2018.

A motion was made and seconded to approve the proposal as presented.

Motion carried although it was not unanimous.
