   2. Budget. The Board of Trustees will be reviewing the proposed budget plan tomorrow, September 18, 2020.
   3. Update on the university’s response to COVID-19. There has been substantial lowering of the positive trend seen during the first two weeks of class. Testing had been increased.

   Questions were asked including but not limited to the following topics:
   1. Academic freedom - best practice to meet in person. Is there any consideration for faculty who are hopeful to increase in person classes? The Provost explained that we are still learning what is and isn’t working, working to determine the flexibility for specific situations in preparation for spring. A survey will be utilized soon, allowing faculty to provide opinion and personal experience that is working. This information will be considered when making plans for the spring.
   2. Concerns about the disproportionate amount of women faculty effected by COVID-19. How is this being considered for promotion and tenure, etc. The Provost is monitoring this situation and has had some discussion with the Scholarship Advisory Committee who works closely with the Research office and the Sponsored Projects Administration. The Provost also plans to speak to the University Promotion and Tenure Committee as well as bringing this topic up for discussion with the Academic Leadership Group.
3. US News and World Report ranking - is this a concern of the administration? President agreed that the results were a disappointment and accepted full responsibility for the administrative oversight. The data provided was not complete meaning old data was used by US News and World Report resulting in an unbecoming ranking. This situation will not happen again in the future.
