Biography:

Juliana Silva is an award winning theatrical make-up artist. She graduated from Ball State's Theatre and Dance department in 2019 with a Bachelor's of Fine Arts in Theatrical Design and Technology. Juliana designed the hair and make-up for 6 main stage shows while at Ball State. In addition to theatre she has done work for several short films, including a Stephen King title. Ball State was an easy choice for her when considering which school to go to. The feeling of home created within the theatre department there made learning safe, easy and fun. It was also apparent she would receive ample opportunities to grow as an artist through the department. While she was there she was able to participate in 2 Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festivals, and 1 United States Institute for Theatre Technology conference. These both helped her display her work and learn to speak about it in a presentational way, as well as see and learn from other artists across the country. The department at Ball State also gave her the opportunity to learn from many well known names in the business. She decided to become an Alumni Ambassador because it is important to her for BIPOC students to be able to receive the same career-heightening experiences the department gave her, while finding that same sense of a safe home she found at Ball State Department of Theatre and Dance.
