

Anticipating Test Questions

Have you ever wished you knew what was on the test before you took it? Here are some things to do and look out for that'll tell you more!

- Important information written on the board.

- Information labeled as 'difficult'.

- Topics in class that are also in the textbook.

- Learning Goals from chapters

- Review questions or exercises.

- Ask your professor!

- Asking former students of that professor.

- Looking back on previous exams.

- Writing down in class items that are said to be on the test.

- TUTORING!

