During his recent visit attending The 2017 International Congress on Obesity and Metabolic Syndrome (ICOMES) in Seoul, South Korea, Prof. Youfa Wang, John & Janice Fisher Endowed Chair of Wellness and Associate Director of the Fisher Institute of Health and Well-being, visited Kyunghee University and met with his long-term collaborator, Prof. HyungJung Lim and her research team there. They discussed about their collaboration projects. Drs. Wang’s and Lim’s teams have been collaborating over the past about ten years, including in an international collaboration project on childhood obesity prevention led by Dr. Wang, working with the US National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). Fisher Institute research, Dr. Jungwon Min is the Project Manager of the NASA collaboration project. In the South Korean project, Dr. Lim’s team has developed culturally tailored intervention materials for child health promotion and is making effort to expand the intervention program in several schools in South Korea. Dr. Wang visited Dr. Lim’s research lab and discussed with related team members about future collaboration plans.
