

Social Justice League

Social justice promotes the "distribution of advantages to be fair and equitable to all, regardless of race, gender, ability, status, sexual orientation, physical makeup, or religious creed" (Fouad, Gerstein, & Toporek, 2006, p. 1). The Ball State University Social Justice League (S JL) is an organization of students and faculty members united by their commitment to social justice as outlined in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) set by the United Nations Commission in 1948.

The S JL seeks to change social institutions, political and economic systems, and governmental structures that perpetuate unfair practices, structures, and policies in terms of accessibility, resource distribution, and human rights. This includes working to combat discrimination in individuals, families, groups, organizations, legislation processes, nations, and political and ethnic conflicts whether they are inside or outside the United States and to protect the environment and human rights everywhere.

About Us

The Center for Peace and Conflict Studies is an interdisciplinary, university-based unit that pursues research on structural and direct forms of violence and conflict; implements nonviolent strategies to resolve conflict; offers mediation services to individuals, groups, and organizations; and trains people in conflict resolution, mediation, peace-building, leadership, meditation, and sportspersonship skills. It also pursues public diplomacy, sports diplomacy, and cultural exchange as part of local, regional, national, and international projects designed to promote mutual understanding, appreciation, cooperation, and respect.

To stay up to date with news and information about the Peace Center, call (765) 285-1622, email us to sign up for our discussion list, follow us on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram, and sign up for our newsletters! We welcome hearing from you!