Course Information

Course Description and Rationale: MATH 125 satisfies the university core curriculum requirement for mathematics. This course covers aspects of personal finance, probability, and statistics. We will use a variety of fundamental mathematical skills to analyze situations not typically covered in a traditional sequence of mathematics courses. We will develop problem-solving skills enabling students to be capable and productive leaders and citizens.

Course Objectives & Learning Outcomes: Students are expected to master the manipulation of mathematical symbols and gain a new perspective on mathematical thinking, with the hope that they will recognize situations where these skills may be applied. These tools are used to provide a new way of looking at today's world at a collegiate level. Among other things, students will learn the following:

- How to extract useful mathematical information from data presented in numerical or graphical form.
- How to present data in graphs and tables to communicate information, both by hand and using technology.
- How to use technology to gain knowledge and solve real-world problems.
- How to interpret and draw conclusions from data, both for a single variable and for two variables.
- How to communicate effectively in writing, using proper English and correct mathematical terminology, in the context of finances and statistics.

Class Structure: Class time will be primarily devoted to group work and guided problem solving. Complete academic integrity is expected. Consistent and punctual attendance is essential and expected. Students should notify the instructor once they anticipate being absent for any reason (e.g., funeral) or as soon as possible after the absence begins (e.g., unexpected injury or illness). Documentation may be requested. More detail on BSU Attendance Policies can be found here.

Course Textbook and Materials

Textbook: Viewing Life Mathematically: A Pathway to Quantitative Literacy, 2nd ed, Denley, 2023, (Hawkes).

Required Materials: A scientific calculator is required. The TI-30XS MultiView is recommended. Cell phones and other personal devices may not be used during class. Students will regularly need to bring laptops.

This course is part of our course material delivery program, Ball State First Day. The bookstore will provide each student with a convenient package containing all required physical books and any digital materials will be integrated into Canvas for this course.

You should have received an email from the bookstore confirming materials provided for each of your courses and asking you to select how you would like to receive any printed components (in-store pick up or home delivery). If you haven't done so already, please confirm your fulfillment preference so the bookstore can prepare your materials. Students who do not want to participate in the First Day program may choose to opt out.

Course Assignments and Assessments

Hawkes Homework and Canvas Quizzes:

- Homework: There is online homework in Hawkes learning. Each lesson involves three phases: Learn, Practice, and Certify. Use Learn and Practice to learn the concepts and work out practice problems with access to learning aids. When you feel confident in the material, move on to Certify to complete your homework and earn your grade. Note that you need to reach the indicated mastery level for each lesson to receive credit. A 10% penalty will be applied for each day that an assignment is submitted late for the first four days. After that will be worth 60% of their normal value.
- Quiz: There are "Learn quiz" on each lesson in Canvas. Quizzes will not be accepted late, but the 2 lowest canvas quizzes will be dropped. (Each lesson in Hawkes includes a quiz designed to support your preparation before beginning the lesson. It is recommended that you read the lesson content in Hawkes first, then complete the quiz.)

Attendance and In-class Assignments:

- In-class assignments and Activities: Students are expected to attend all classes. In-class and group assignments cannot be made up. However, the lowest in-class assignments will be dropped. The Data Analysis project cannot be dropped.

Exam: There will be three exams:

- Exam 1: Finance Unit
 - Exam 2: Probability Unit
 - Exam 3 (Final Exam): Statistics Unit
- You may use a scientific calculator for all exams.
